SOME THOUGHTS ON SCIENCE
BY GEORGE
WASHINGTON CARVER

George Washington Carver richly deserves to be ranked among the greatest scientists in American history. His study of plants yielded over 300 uses for peanuts and over 100 for sweet potatoes, revolutionizing the Southern economy.

Here is a brief excerpt from one of his public lectures:

Years ago I went into my laboratory and said, "Dear Mr. Creator, please tell me what the universe was made for?"

The Great Creator answered, "You want to know too much for that little mind of yours. As for something more your size."

Then I asked, "Please, Mr. Creator, tell me what man was made for?"

Again the Creator replied, "You are still asking too much. Cut down the extent and improve the intent."

So then I asked, "Please, Mr. Creator, will you tell me why the peanut was made?"

"That's better, but even then it's infinite. What do you want to know about the peanut?"

"Mr. Creator, can I make milk out of the peanut?"

"What kind of milk do you want? Good Jersey milk or just plain boarding house milk?"

"Good Jersey milk."

And then the Great Creator taught me to take the peanut apart and put it together again. And out of the process have come forth all of these products!"
